

Ehren D. Powell
Senior Vice President and Chief Digital Officer

Mr. Powell is senior vice president and chief digital officer of Marathon Petroleum Corporation.

Prior to joining MPC, Mr. Powell was the vice president and chief information officer of GE Healthcare. He was responsible for ensuring business value through technology systems and processes that provide transformational medical technologies and solutions to the global healthcare industry.

Mr. Powell began his career at GE in 2000 as a member of the GE Aviation IT leadership program. While at GE and its subsidiary companies, he had 20 years of experience holding several executive IT leadership roles with increasing responsibility. In 2005, he was named the IT leader for services, global enterprise resource planning, and business intelligence platforms for GE Hitachi Nuclear Energy. In 2010, he joined GE Transportation as the chief information officer of services and in 2014 became senior vice president and chief information officer of power services with GE Power. Mr. Powell was named senior vice president and chief information officer of services for parent company GE in 2017.

Mr. Powell has a bachelor's degree in business administration, management and information systems from the University of Cincinnati.